Google Classroom

Reflection:

I have recently started using Google Classroom. I use Google Classroom to improve my writing assignments, assessments and data tracking. My students are very familiar with Google Classroom which allows me to concentrate all my focus on my learning goals and not on teaching my students how to use the technology.

Impact:

The impact Google Classroom has had in my art room has been very beneficial. My students are being challenged more on a daily basis and I have seen an improvement in their writing skills. This is all due to the support our district provides. Recently the entire district went “Google”. Every staff member and student has a Google account and all students now have Chromebooks. This 1:1 initiative is crucial for the 21 century learner.

Intent:

My intent is to continue to use Google Classroom with my students and to improve my knowledge and use of it. With the data showing improved writing skills and improved content knowledge my students are benefiting from this technology. I plan on helping other art teachers to implement Google Classroom into their existing curriculum. My experience with Google Classroom will help me to show other teachers the benefits and how it is helping students become 21st century learners.
